Biblical Manhood, Biblical Womanhood

Twenty years ago, most of us probably did not stop to think much about what it meant to be a man or a woman. The majority cultural values pretty well lined up with what the Bible taught on the subject, and only people on the fringes of society were questioning what it meant to be a man or what it meant to be a woman. Fast forward to 2024 and here we are, questioning what it means to be male, what it means to be female, if you can be both, or if you have to be either one at all. For those who lived the majority of their lives before this period of gender questioning, you probably think everyone has gone crazy! And you'd be right.

Why is this? Why are we questioning basic, foundational building blocks such as gender? Why are we trying to redefine what it means to be a man or what it means to be a woman? I believe it's because we have lost sight of God's created identity and become enamored with other identities and expressions of self.

Over the next few weeks, I'd like us to look at what the Bible says it means to be a man or a woman. While the Bible was written in a different culture and time, the lessons it teaches about being a man or a woman are timeless. Its lessons about the created intent for man and for woman are more relevant now than ever. I don't really have a creative title for this series, but please bring a friend and certainly bring yourself. Let's look at Scripture together and stop listening to the world and its definitions of gender and identity. Let's learn about Biblical Manhood, Biblical Womanhood together!

Keep Moving Forward

The nation of Israel had escaped slavery from Egypt. But now they found themselves being pursued by their former captors. At the shore of the Red Sea they felt that they were trapped. Many of them thought about going back to Egypt into slavery. Others were bemoaning their current dilemma. The LORD then said to Moses, “Why do you cry to Me? Tell the children of Israel to go forward” (Exodus 14:15). Other Bible versions have God saying for them to “move on.” God has always wanted His people to trust in Him and keep moving forward.

This got me to thinking about God’s people today. Many seem to have the same mindset as the Israelites. Some desire to go back to their life they had before Christ (of living in the bondage of sin). Others do not look to the future with hope and bewail their current problems. But we need to be people who trust in God and keep moving forward. Don’t look back—keep moving forward in faith, trust, hope, service, spiritual growth, love, forgiveness.

“Meditate on these things; give yourself entirely to them, that your progress may be evident to all” (1 Timothy 4:15).
